

Pros & Cons on types of covers

COVER	PROS	CONS
Pul/synthetic	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - cheap! - quick drying - leaks are rare - easy to use & quick to put on - only need a few covers for each child (3-8) - easy to care for - can re-use between changes if not soiled 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - may need to try a couple of brands to find a good fit for your baby - are not as breathable as wool or fleece - can be bulky
Wool	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - provides the most breathability - made of natural fibers - keeps the bum much cooler than synthetics - only needs laundered when soiled or smelly - if only wet, it may be used many times between washes - shorties/longies double as clothing 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - needs a special wash routine; most are hand wash only - may need to buy a special wool detergent/cleaner - may take up to 3 days to air dry - usually bulkier - typically more expensive
Fleece	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - cheap - quick to dry - breathable - soft 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> - may retain odors - may experience wicking - may require special washing - may pill
